Equality Duty and Objectives

Updated objectives by Head June 2023 and reviewed by FGB

Update for a new child in September 2023

Ratified by Governors November 2020

Teaching, as a 'work of love', requires a radical commitment and service from all teachers, whatever their faith and whatever point they have reached on their spiritual journey:

"The Church looks upon you as co-workers with an important measure of shared responsibility...

To you, it is given to create the future and give it direction by offering to your students a set of values with which to assess their newly discovered knowledge... The changing times demand that educators be open to new cultural influences and interpret them for young pupils in the light of Christian faith. You are called to bring professional competence and a high standard of excellence to your teaching... But your responsibilities make demands on you that go far beyond the need for professional skills and competence... Through you, as through a clear window on a sunny day, students must come to see and know the richness and joy of a life lived in accordance with Christ's teaching, in response to his challenging demands. To teach means not only to impart what we know, but also to reveal who we are by living what we believe. It is this latter lesson which tends to last the longest". Principles

The policy outlines our commitment to promote equality. This involves tackling the barriers that could lead to unequal outcomes, ensuring that there is equality of access for all. We believe that equality is the responsibility of every member of the school and wider community. Every member of our community should feel safe, secure, valued and of equal worth.

Equality is a key principle for treating people with dignity and respect. We bear witness to our commitment to ensure that the protected characteristics, identified under the Equality Act 2010, are central when we plan: age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, and sexual orientation.

Objectives for Promoting Equality

3.1 Promoting equality: Curriculum and Learning

We aim to provide all our pupils with the opportunity to succeed, and to reach the highest level of personal achievement. To achieve this, we will ensure:

- Curriculum planning reflects a commitment to equality; it prepares pupils for life in a diverse society and uses opportunities to reflect the background and experience of pupils and families;
- There will be opportunities in the curriculum to explore concepts and issues related to identity and equality;
- The promotion of attitudes and values that challenge discriminatory behaviour and language;
- The use of non-stereotyped materials which reflect accurately a range of cultures, identities and lifestyles
- Celebration of other cultures which is a key aspect of our school. Tangible examples in planning which reflect diversity.

3.2 Promoting equality: Achievement

There is a consistently high expectation of all pupils. To secure the best possible outcomes we recognise that:

- Adults will be expected to provide good, positive role models in their approach to all issues relating to equality of opportunity;
- It is important to identify the particular needs of individuals and groups and to use targeted interventions to narrow gaps in achievement;
- High priority is afforded the provisions for special educational needs, disability and disadvantage;

- A range of teaching methods to be used to ensure that effective learning takes place at all stages for all pupils and that to promote pupil engagement, pupils are encouraged to be actively involved in their own learning.

3.3 Promoting equality: Ethos and culture

We recognise that everyone in the community is instrumental in demonstrating mutual respect and this should be tangible to visitors.

- Equality and Inclusion are central to our school ethos. There are opportunities in assemblies and in EPR (Education in Personal Relationships), as well as other lessons to learn about difference and diversity, both in our own community and others including the global dimension. We have a highly developed programme of study for relationships education, which includes all relevant aspects.
- Pupils are given an effective voice, for example through a School Council and through pupil surveys. Our school council is democratically appointed and is broadly reflective of the existing diversity of the school community. Other representative groups, like the Class Ambassadors, Sports Leaders, the Eco Warriors and others are fully representative of our school diversity.
- Pupils and parents participate regularly in events that raise awareness of a range of diversity and inequality issues. The school contributes to five main charities each year and in the past year we have sent over £3,000 to charity. The children in their house groups adopt a charity. We regularly have speakers in from the various charities.

3.4 Promoting equality: Staff recruitment and professional development

- Fair and equal access to advertised positions.
- All posts are advertised formally and open to the widest pool of applicants;
- All those involved in recruitment and selection are trained and aware of what they should do to avoid discrimination, linked to safeguarding and safer recruitment practices and ensure good equality practice through the recruitment and selection process;
- Access to opportunities for professional development is fair and equal.

3.5 Promoting equality: Countering and challenging harassment and bullying

- We counter and challenge all types of discriminatory behaviour and this is made clear to staff, pupils, parents and governors;
- Our EPR programme of study has learning in each year group related to challenging harassment and bullying, including racial, sexist and homophobic incidents.
- Annually during the national anti-bullying week in November we focus learning on challenging discriminatory behavior.
- We survey children and parents regularly and always respond to any concerns which are raised.
- We have a clear, agreed procedure for dealing with prejudice related bullying incidents and have a nominated member of staff responsible for recording, reporting and monitoring incidents (Head teacher); Reported incidents of any kind of discriminatory or prejudice related bullying or poor behaviour, (including racist and homophobic) are managed effectively by staff who appreciate fully the value of diversity and the need to promote equal opportunities.
- We report to the governors the number of prejudice related incidents recorded.

3.6 Promoting equality: Partnerships with parents/carers and the wider community. We:

- Take action to ensure parents/carers from all backgrounds are encouraged to participate in the full life of the school;
- Ensure that there are good channels of communication to ensure parents views are captured and acted upon;
- Encourage members of the local community to join in activities and celebrations;
- Ensure that parents/carers of newly arrived pupils are made to feel welcome.

Responsibility for the policy

All members of the community have a responsibility for the promotion of equalities

4.1 The Local Governing Committee has a responsibility for ensuring that it:

- complies with all equalities legislation
- the equality policy is maintained and updated regularly and that equality objectives are easily identifiable;
- the actions, procedures and strategies related to the policy are implemented;

4.2 The Head teacher and senior leadership team have a responsibility for:

- providing leadership and vision in respect of equality;
- overseeing the implementation of the equality policy and action plan;
- coordinating activities related to equality and evaluating impact;
- ensuring that all are aware of, and comply with, the equalities legislation;
- ensuring that all staff are aware of their responsibilities and are given relevant training and support;
- taking appropriate action in response to diversity incidents, discrimination against persons with a disability and sexual harassment and discrimination

4.3 All staff have responsibility for:

- the implementation of the equalities policy and action plans;
- dealing with incidents of discrimination and knowing how to identify and challenge bias and stereotyping;
- ensuring they do not discriminate on grounds of ethnicity and culture, disability, sexual orientation or other equality protected characteristic under the Equality Act 2010; Keeping up to date with equalities legislation.
